DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The preliminary amendment to the claims filed 2/18/2005 has been entered by the examiner. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not). The copy of the International Preliminary Examination Report (IPER) submitted with the instant application on 2/18/2005 indicates claims 1-24 were presented in the international application PCT/CA03/01323 (see page 2 of said copy of the IPER). There is no record in the file of the instant application of any other claims.

Consequently, misnumbered claims 43-66 in the preliminary amendment filed 2/18/2005 have been renumbered as claims 25-48, respectively.

Applicant is required, in response to this action, to submit a listing of the claims reflecting this renumbering and is advised to correct the dependent claims to reflect this renumbering. Failure to comply with this requirement will be treated as non-responsive.

Sequence Rule Compliance

This application contains sequence disclosures that are encompassed by the definitions for nucleotide and/or amino acid sequences set forth in 37 CFR § 1.821(a)(1) and (a)(2). However, this application fails to comply with the requirements of 37 CFR §§ 1.821 through 1.825 for the following reason(s): Claims 41, 45 and 47, as renumbered, recite sequences that are not accompanied by a sequence identifier number (SEQ ID NO).

Applicant is required, in response to this action, to provide the SEQ ID NOS for the recited sequences. Failure to comply with this requirement will be treated as non-responsive.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 25-35, 40, and 44, drawn to methods of nucleic acid amplification.

Group II, claim(s) 36, 37, 39, 46 and 48, drawn to isolated nucleic acids.

Group III, claim(s) 38, 41-43, 45 and 47, drawn to isolated polypeptides.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: at least claim 36 is anticipated by Douglas et al, published March 2001 and cited as reference #10 on the IDS filed on July 20, 2006. Note the IDS erroneously lists the publication year as 2000. In any event the publication date pre-dates the priority date of the instant application (8/22/2002) by more than one year.

Regarding claim 36, Douglas teaches an isolated nucleic acid sequence (see Figure 3) which is "identifiable using the method of claim 43" (i.e. claim 25 as renumbered). In fact, any nucleic acid sequence is "identifiable" using the claimed method, depending on the primers which the user selects.

Further Restriction Requirement Applicable to All Groups

Additionally, each group named above is subject to a further restriction. This application contains claims directed to one or more SEQ ID NOS. Applicant is required to select ONE SEQ ID NO to which the claims of the elected group will be restricted. This is NOT an election of species. Nucleotide or peptide sequences are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are unrelated to one another. These sequences are thus deemed to normally constitute independent and distinct inventions within the meaning of 35 U.S.C 121. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide or peptide sequence is presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to restriction requirement pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 CFR 1.141. By statute, "[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in one application, the Commissioner may require the application to be restricted to one of the inventions." 35 U.S.C. 121. Pursuant to this statute, the rules provide that "[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in a single application, the examiner in his action shall require the applicant...to elect that invention to which his claims shall be restricted." 37 CFR 1.142 (a). See also 37 CFR 1.141(a). The search and examination of all sequences would pose an undue burden on the PTO search resources.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
